

Engage & Enhance

In any profession, like Teaching, Therapy, Social Work or Rehab, it is easy to show success by selecting to work with only of those people who are guaranteed to succeed through compliance.

True professional skill involves accepting all comers and getting the best out of each of them. That is achieved by Enabling & Empowering: treating people as unique individuals with potential.

This is what is different at Calne Central Youth & Community Resource and the hard work of our Community Service Volunteers take on. All individuals face and present unique challenges.

The challenge of working with all comers, without discrimination, is hard work and requires us to be flexible and accommodating. We ask that you are tolerant of our visitors and our Volunteers.

All of us face our own challenges from time to time and our volunteers are no different. We seek to do what is best and will make mistakes, but our intention is to Engage & Enhance.

We seek to work according to the fundamental principles of 'Inclusivity & Diversity' and in ways that are 'Enabling and Empowering', adhering to the Declaration of Human Rights and Equality of Opportunity.

Look to a person's 'Potential' Capability & Provide them Opportunities, Resources and necessary Permissions.

Nurture Aspirations towards Self Determination & 'Let go'.

'Helping', however, is a double-edged sword:

Help people to help themselves in term that 'they' desire, having been provided the resources, opportunities & permissions.

Rather than - Helping people to do what 'you' want them to do, or you don't want them to do (potentially disabling).
